SHRI AJAY BHUSHAN PANDEY
DIRECTOR-GENERAL & CEO
INDIAN INSTITUTE OF CORPORATE AFFAIRS

Dispute resolution is one such aspect of corporate affairs that has a serious impact on seamless operations management and workflow processes of corporate entities. A systemic approach is thus needed to address commercial dispute resolution for enabling businesses to focus on their core competencies. I am glad to introduce this 'IICA Certified Arbitration Program' to build and strengthen the arbitration ecosystem through training and capacity building. I wish all the participants a great learning experience ahead.

PROF (DR) NAVEEN SIROHI
PROGRAM DIRECTOR, ICAP
INDIAN INSTITUTE OF CORPORATE AFFAIRS

This training program provides holistic insights into the theory, practice, and procedure of arbitration. The program has been curated to provide a distinctive learning experience to the participants while equipping them with the core knowledge, skills, and expertise that are required to excel as an arbitration professional. This program is one of its kind as participants will experience practitioner-centric learning from our global pool of experts. I welcome all the participants for the training program.

OBJECTIVE OF THE PROGRAM

With increase in cross-border trade and commerce, commercial and contractual disputes have exponentially increased among the parties across the world. In order to ensure smooth work flow and avoid loss of time, business and money, parties require that these commercial disputes are resolved through a robust dispute resolution mechanism that ensures justice, cost-effectiveness and timely resolution of disputes. For resolution of these commercial disputes, arbitration has now become the most preferred option for the parties and hence, there is an exceptional increase in the number of disputes being referred to and resolved through arbitration. Consequentially, 'arbitration as a service' is emerging as one of the fastest growing sectors in the domain of alternate dispute resolution.

With advent of this new era in the domain of alternate dispute resolution, there is a dire need of trained and specialized professionals in order to cater to the needs of commercial dispute resolution landscape in India. Therefore, while addressing such need and envisioning upcoming opportunities for professionals in the domain of commercial arbitration, the Indian Institute of Corporate Affairs, Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India has come up with the 'IICA Certified Arbitration Program' with the objective to create a highly efficient pool of trained arbitrators and specialized arbitration professionals towards making India the hub of commercial arbitration.
